Propolis a major step in boosting immunity

Based on the latest discoveries and also traditional medicine, we, at Green plants of life, have conducted unique and vast research on natural substances that are anti-bacterial and fight infections, viruses and fungi.

Propolis is a wax made by an amazing process by the honey bees on plant pollens, gums and secretions. This substance is the most powerful natural antibiotic capable of eliminating most persistent bacteria to chemical antibiotics and also a suitable replacement for many prescribed ones.

Propolis contains vitamins, essential amino acids and minerals, eliminating respiratory problems, atherosclerosis and digestive diseases and has got anti-viral and anti-bacterial effects (on influenza and herpes viruses) & boosts the immune system and is a powerful anti-oxidant.

Considering the broad and harmful side effects of synthetic antibiotics on one hand and the destructive effects of particulates in the southern provinces, air pollution & viral disease on the other hand, at Green plants of Life, we have had vigorous studies on bee hive, the results of which are the following products:
